Providing this information is voluntary; however, if you do not provide the requested information, DTMI may be unable to assess or approve your application. Your personal information may be shared with authorised third parties, including interstate and overseas licensing authorities, law enforcement and other transport agencies, as permitted or required by law. For information about how DTMI handles personal information, including access and correction, see transport.wa.gov.au/privacy
This form may be used if you wish to apply for the recognition of learner driver competencies completed in another Australian jurisdiction, New Zealand (NZ) or the Indian Ocean Territories (IOT).

It is an offence under the Road Traffic (Administration) Act 2008 to obtain, or attempt to obtain, a driver's licence through a false statement, misrepresentation or other dishonest means. Maximum penalty is $1,600.
You must apply for the recognition of competencies at the time you apply for a WA driver's licence and you must hold, have held, or provide evidence of:

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

WHEN TO LODGE THIS APPLICATION AND SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS

This application must be submitted at the time you apply for a WA driver's licence. Evidence of completed learner driver competencies will NOT be recognised after a WA learner's permit is issued.

COMPETENCIES THAT CAN BE RECOGNISED

DTMI will only recognise those learner driver competencies completed in the past five (5) years for interstate applicants or 12 months for NZ and IOT applicants. If this period has lapsed since the learner driver competency was completed, the competency will not be recognised and further testing in WA may be required.

SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS

Holders of a learner's permit issued in another Australian jurisdiction or the IOT

You will need to provide documentary evidence of any supervised driving hours undertaken to support your application, for example, an approved learner Log Book. Your supervising driver must also complete the declaration on this form.

If you have been recording supervised driving hours in an electronic Log Book, the hours recorded will only be recognised in WA if the electronic Log Book is approved for use in your home jurisdiction. The information printed from the electronic Log Book must provide the following:

- Learner driver details, including name and learner's permit/licence number;
- Details of each supervisor, including name and driver's licence number or driving instructor number;
- Each trip entry must be verified or signed by the supervisor; and
- Details of each trip, including trip duration (start and finish time).

DTMI will verify information relating to any completed learner driver competency from the Australian or IOT licensing authority where the competency was completed.

Holders of a learner licence issued in New Zealand

You must obtain a 'Certificate of Particulars' from the NZ Transport Agency and must request that it includes evidence of any learner driver competency completed and the date they were completed.
