It is an offence for a tow truck driver to charge a fee other than the fee for the tow/salvage or storage of a vehicle, or for the fees to exceed the amount stated on this form.

A vehicle must not be towed or salvaged until the person authorising the tow or salvage has signed this form. No other fees other than what has been declared on this form can be charged.

Drivers are reminded that they have the right to refuse a tow from the scene of an accident if the maximum fees to be charged have not been disclosed on the tow truck drivers statement or they are asked to sign a statement that has not been completed in full by the tow truck driver.
